

Directions Diva

Your job reviews the directions given in the WebQuest. Are the roles of the learner well defined? Does everyone know what their job is? Could a student follow the instructions? Is a clear goal for the WebQuest stated?

	Excellent 4	Average 3	Needs Improvement 2	Poor 1
Roles of the Learner	Roles clearly stated so students could follow	Roles are easy to understand, but need to read further to understand. Might need further explanation	Instructions are not clear, students could become easily confused	No clear roles for students to follow
Job Description	Job description is clearly written so students know what is expected of them	Job description is defined, but students may need to interpret some of the job	Job is vague, students makes up a lot of it as they go along	No specific job descriptions, so students don't know what to do
Instructions	Well written so students clearly understand what is expected of them	Process is well organized so students could follow on their own	Instructions aren't clearly written so that a student could follow without help	Too much freedom for students to wander and do as they please
Goal	Goal is well established. Students can easily tell the teacher what they are expected to accomplish	Goal is present, but students may need additional clarification	Goal is buried in too much wording, students cannot easily state the mission	Goal cannot be easily identified

Return to WebQuest Home Page

Last modified April 10, 2001 by NMZ